EXHIBITION SYNOPSIS

This exhibition includes works all figurative and symbolic, a-z painted by hand in oil, including different states of mind, and a reflection of our feminine society.

My main goal in this exhibition is to express the feminine freedom and courage of the women who resist being free from fears, problems, and false beliefs.

ARTIST STATEMENT

My work reflects the inner spirit of women, a rooted, courageous, creative soul... that all powerful women share. These women belong to every corner of the world. If one woman suffers in any part of the world, all women suffer, and if a powerful and successful woman is rewarded somewhere on Earth, all women everywhere rejoice. These effects are paradoxical, meaning these characters are portrayed as pure, innocent, with a halo of light over their heads, and sometimes wearing green clothing symbolizing purity.

The concept of purity juxtaposed with nudity creates this paradox. Meanwhile, these women are veiled, meaning they are covered. That is, they are covered from head to toe with a miniature figure. The miniature symbolizes Iranian tradition and culture.

Every day, in every moment, we are in a battle between good and evil. We have both good and evil within us. Sometimes one overpowers the other, and sometimes vice versa.

We all wear masks in various situations to conceal our true selves.

These masks hide the inner face of a person.

Have you ever looked within yourself? This relates to the philosophy of introspection. Do you like yourself behind your masks?

These paintings are symbolic. Chess pieces, dice, angel sculptures, colorful dice, miniatures... they are all symbols.

A symbol means an object representing a higher and deeper concept than its outward form.
